

Eddie & M & M. and the rest of Mt. Zion

I also ~~miss~~ miss being around "The Max X", but the church here is awesome. Everyone gets lined up by what week of training they are in. 6th weeks are the loudest and everyone claps.

Today I start 3rd week, Zero week was the worst thing ive ever gone through in my entire life.

Also its good to here that my cousin, Seth, starting going to Mt. Zion. I ~~told~~ told him how much fun you could have there, and how you all welcome everyone like they are family.

The other Day I had K.P. (Kitchen Patrol) so I woke up at 2 AM and left the Squadron at 3, we finally got to the chow hall on the other side of the base where we were assigned. The work i did was clean glasses, i must have cleaned thousands of glasses that day, but i was able to eat what ever i wanted.

When you get a chance Id like to have a pic of everyone sent here so when i have personal time I can look and remember all the good times at mt. Zion.

But till the next letter GOD BLESS and take care

HOOAH!

P.S. The Airforce has the hardest Basic Military Training of any Branch.

Also every week at Airman Of Christ i put Mt. Zion Down for a prayer request. So not only are you praying for me but me and a team of people are praying for you.
Mt. Zion is the best place to be.
